In March, 1931, voters of Carmel, Pebble Beach, Hatton Fields and Carmel Point turned out in unprecedented numbers to pass a $75,000 Sunset School District bond issue. At the time, this area was hard hit by the depression but the voters decided that the future warranted going into debt for 15 years and they faced up to paying an additional 16 cents on the dollar tax in 1932 to get what they wanted—an auditorium.

The auditorium was dedicated in November, 1931, and its construction was lauded as the opening of a new era for Carmel.

The first musical performance in the auditorium was in December of the same year. It was sponsored by the P-TA to raise money to aid Carmel's unemployed and was a two-night presentation of Handel's Messiah by the 100-voice Peninsula Chorus directed by Fenton Foster.

The Carmel Music Society was in existence and that year brought to this community Szigeti, Myra Hess and Kreutzberg. These artists were presented in the Carmel Theatre. Smaller musical events, out of which grew the Bach Festival and the Monterey County Symphony, were presented in the Denny-Watrous Gallery and the Theatre of the Golden Bough.

These musical groups saw the advantages of presenting concerts in the new and spacious Sunset auditorium. They moved to the better performance quarters. So it was that the voters of Carmel,

Doctor Reiterates Stand On School Food Health Hazards

Just before last night's meeting of the Carmel Unified School District board of education meeting, Dr. Ferris C. Burleson, school physician who, last week, refused to reconsider his resignation because reports he had made to the board were ignored, particularly reports on health hazards related to food vending machines at the junior and senior high schools, reiterated his stand in a letter presented to trustees.

"It has become quite obvious there are two sets of standards being used. The set of standards that I feel should be maintained and that which is acceptable to the school officials. If you recall, I made this statement to Mr. Bair at your last meeting.

"Since I have maintained I am qualified to inspect kitchens, I feel that you should know the training on which I base my judgment. I have a degree of doctor of medicine from a recognized four-year college of medicine. The curriculum contained a course in public health, hygiene, and bacteriology. Further, I had one month, during my internship at Fresno County Hospital, in the contagious disease hospital and made field trips with the public health officer to check on health hazards. Also, during my four years as medical officer in the U.S. Army, part of my duties was inspecting all company kitchens at least once a month. I was never court-martialed for inadequate reports, nor did any mess sergeants threaten me due to innacurate reports. These are my qualifications," Dr. Burleson's letter said.

The letter was a reply to statements of Carmel district admin-

Over 1,500 aristocrats of the dog world, such as those in the picture above, have been entered in the 40th Annual Del Monte Dog Show which will be held on Sunday on the lawn between Del Monte Lodge and the 18th green of the Pebble Beach Golf Links, one of the most scenic sites in the world.

Judging will start at 8:30 a.m. and end at 4:30 p.m. in 12 rings. All dogs entered in the event previously must have won American Kennel Club blue ribbons. The Westminster Dog Show held in Madison Square Garden, New York, is the only other show in the United States which has the same entry standard. However, puppy and obedience classes will not be required to meet the blue ribbon requirement.

Judges will come from all over the United States and Canada to select the winners in the scores of classes, also the best dog in the show.

This year's officers of the Del Monte Kennel Club, sponsors of the event, are Frank H. Grover, president; Robert van Blarcom, vice president; Henry Tiedemann, treasurer; June Wood, recording secretary; and Joele Craig, corresponding secretary. This club is affiliated with the American Kennel Club.

No. 109

The tasks we have to do, but shirk,
Is not so much a fear of work.
We put things off for later date,
And there they sit, and wait and wait.

The letters that we meant to write—
Unfinished jobs kept out of sight—
Just thinking of them makes us tired;
But that's not all we have acquired.

First thing you know we find we've built
A nagging complex full of guilt.
We don't know why our nerves are shot,
But here's the reason, like as not.

So mend the shirts, and darn the socks,
And hoe the weeds and move those rocks.
Complete the tasks, clean up the mess—
Who knows? You may find happiness!

Bair Predicts Reduction In Education Tax

The school tax rate will be lower next year although the 1965-66 Carmel Unified School District budget will exceed last year's by $597,398, Superintendent Medill Bair reported to the board of education last night when he presented "a lean budget" of $2,398,860. The reason for this is that $3½ million has been added to the district's taxable real estate in the past year, he said.

Presented last night was only a revised tentative budget. It showed an increase in the salaries of teachers, classified employees and administrators.

The minimum salary for teachers at the first step in each of five classifications was increased by $200 and additional steps were added in the two highest classifications. Mr. Bair remarked that this upgrading was "not good enough" and told the board that it was difficult to employ high quality teachers even with the proposed $200 annual pay increase for all personnel.

A five percent across-the-board increase in salaries of classified employees was included in the budget. This will cost the district $14,731. Rolland Pilon, president of the Carmel classified employees association, told the board he was pleased that the requested higher pay had been granted but regretted that another request of the employees association for a three-week paid vacation after a certain period of employment had not been granted. He said, in 1965-66, this would only cost the district $1,800-$1,900 and asked the board to reconsider this matter.

"We would appreciate it very much if it is possible," he declared.

Administrators salaries were budgeted with an extra step increase.

The budget reflected the elimination of one administrator. Last night, Mr. Bair recommended to the board that the full-time position of director of physical education and recreation, now held by William Wakefield, be abolished.

"It is not required in a district of our size. The summer recreation program can be handled by a full-time summer appointment. The winter recreation program can be handled by a part-time appointment. The physical education directorship will be handled by one of our present staff of physical education instructors," his

Memorial Day Services

Carmel Post No. 512 of the American Legion is inviting Carmel and Peninsula residents to Memorial Day services at 11 a.m. on Monday in Devendorf Plaza. This will be the main Memorial Day observance on the Monterey Peninsula.

Principal speakers will be Vice Mayor James C. Buffington Jr., of Carmel and Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.), president of the Carmel Citizens Committee.

Other officials invited to the rites are all Carmel city councilmen, State Senator Fred Farr and Assemblyman Alan Pattee.

U.S. Marines from the Defense Language Institute at the Presidio of Monterey and U.S. Army Chaplain John W. Rose from Fort Ord will take part in the observances.

Color bearers will be James Kelsey, Dick Zimmerman, Fred Foley, Robert E. Smith and Dennis Narvaez of Carmel Post No. 512. Honor colorbearers will be Captain William Ellis and Sergeant Robert Fischer of the Carmel Police Department, Carmel Fire Chief James R. Belvail, Monterey County Sheriff Jack Davenport and Captain Francis Simmons of the California Highway Patrol.

Representatives of the Reserve Officers Association, Chapter 32, and the Reserve Officers Association Ladies Auxiliary, Chapter 32, also officers and members of Carmel Post No. 512 will attend the ceremonies.

Following the services wreaths will be placed at the foot of the monument in Devendorf Plaza honoring those from Carmel who served in World War II. Six-year-old Wendy Artellan will lay the Carmel Post No. 512 wreath. Another wreath will be laid by Mrs. Garry Anloff Jr., president of ROA Chapter 32 Auxiliary and Major Daniel Coleman (USA ret.), ROA Chapter 32 president. Pam Baldwin, president of the Carmel Youth Center, will also place a wreath.

Following the ceremonies in the plaza, the Marines will march to the archway monument at the intersection of San Carlos Street and Ocean Avenue which honors Carmel's World War I veterans. Here Master Sergeant Robert C. Gilmour (USA ret.) and Rolland Pilon, vice commander of Carmel Post No. 512, will place a wreath.

Sergeant Gilmour is a World War I and II, and Korean conflict veteran.

These two veterans have assisted Past Commander Paul T. Artellan of Post No. 512 in arranging Carmel's Memorial Day services.

At the conclusion of the observances, Carmel Post No. 512 will hold open house at the American Legion Hall on Dolores Street south of Eighth Avenue.

Past Commander Artellan reminds everyone that the observance of Memorial Day should include the display of a U.S. flag by each home and business firm in Carmel.

Carmel Florists, NB Florists, Carmel Youth Center and ROA Chapter 32 and its ladies auxiliary are furnishing the flowers for the ceremonies.

Planners Revise Report On Moving The City Hall

Yesterday afternoon, after discussing the Sunset Commission report which asks the city council to reevaluate its decision to move the city hall to Sunset School, Carmel planning commissioners also sent a report to the council on this matter.

This communication will inform the council that a planning commission report of January 11, 1965 only advised the temporary location of the city hall on the school site because such a move was believed financially expedient to obtain a new police station.

Consideration of the Sunset Commission report, however, brought out the fact that justification for the move may no longer exist. Therefore, yesterday's planning commission report recommended, if the financial situation no longer justifies the move, that the recommendation for a

Is there ever a season when we don't have tourists? I don't think so. But if there ever was, there won't be again, thanks to an article in the June GOOD HOUSEKEEPING. The article is about El Camino Real and Carmel has a whole complimentary paragraph. So gird your loins, shopkeepers, motel owners and policemen.

I guess it has to be expected. You know how New Yorkers are always trying to sell somebody the Brooklyn Bridge? And then it turns out they didn't own it in the first place? Well, seems that's an old custom with the natives of that part of the country. And guess who was the first sucker. Peter Minuit back in 1626. He paid the Canarsie Indians $24 for Manhattan and first thing he knew somebody's found out they didn't own Manhattan at all. They owned Brooklyn but who wanted Brooklyn. Poor dupe, he lost his job over it.

This shocking piece of intelligence comes from Amy and John Ruster who, having spent the last seven months knocking down mythological windmills all over Europe, are now apparently ready to tackle the U.S.

Carol and Bill Brown have just finished building their beautiful swimming pool and friends have suddenly become very fond of them. Last weekend a couple came to visit with their seven-year-old son. On the highway near the Browns' house are several huge pipes the water company left there in connection with the new installation they're building in the valley. As they passed the pipes the couple wondered what they were for. "For the Browns' pool, of course," said the seven-year-old.

How Carmel can you get? There is a fire plug at the corner of Junipero and Eighth that's just been given a fresh coat of THAT red, and somebody must've thought it too much to bear. Now, it's so beautifully camouflaged you can hardly distinguish it from the scenery.

If you fellows of the fire department are called suddenly to that neighborhood, look on the southwest corner. It's that tall tree fern with the English ivy wrapped around it.

Can anyone tell me what a "horized" vehicle is? The city hall parking lot has signs saying "Citations issued to unaut horized vehicles." I've got to find out what it means so, in case mine is, I can have it fixed before they citate it. Unaut's no problem. Everybody knows that's just a South American two-toed sloth with a "t" on the end of it. I suspect, from close observation that "horized" is just the result of painting out one too many "t's" in those signs.

School Board Chairman Dr. Robert E. Newton now brings meetings to order with the resounding thwack of a fancy new gavel on a fancy new block. It was made for him by Junior High shop teacher Bill Moritz and he's now making a fancy new case for Bob to carry it in.

We asked how Bill happened to think of such an unusual gift and the answer was very practical. He goes to board meetings, sees how long it takes Bob to reassemble the meeting after coffee break and figured this was the solution. Maybe now, we can get home a little earlier, eh Bill?

Sir Geoffrey de Haviland, British aviation pioneer, died last weekend. How many of you knew that all the De Haviland planes made in the U.S. before 1929 were manufactured by Carmel's own Col. Earl House (USAF ret.)? He raised the money in Wall Street, got a 10-year contract to build the planes in this country and set up a plant at Lowell, Massachusetts, where he turned out 25 De Haviland Moths a week. And then, smart thing, just before the crash, he sold out to Curtiss-Wright.

You've heard of dropouts? Well, unfortunately, we have one. Our dog. And with him it really is serious because it's a double dropout. He used to leave home every morning at 5:00 and come back [illegible]:30. (We think he had a paper route.) Next he'd put the kids on the bus at Carmel High and go to science class. He was a very busy, very conscientious, happy dog. We were so proud.

Then we got new furniture and told him he couldn't sleep on it. Oh, these adolescents! It made him so mad he quit his job, quit school and now, all he does is lie around moping the livelong day. He won't even chase a cat!

Howie And Courtney Brunn Open Third Mark Fenwick Shop

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brunn, owners of the Mark Fenwick shops in Carmel and at the Stevens Creek Plaza in Santa Clara, this week announced the signing of a lease for another Mark Fenwick shop, to be located in the newest section of the Hillsdale Shopping Center in San Mateo. It will be located between new Roos/Atkins and Granat Bros. stores, and is scheduled to open in September.

The Hillsdale shop will be considerably larger than the others, with 3,300 feet of floor space, and will feature the same kind of apparel and merchandising which have been so well received in the first two stores. The out of town stores carry the name, "Mark Fenwick of Carmel" to capitalize on the growing recognition of Carmel as a style center.

The choice of the location at Hillsdale was the result of a continuing market study by the Brunns to determine the best potential outlets for the highly specialized women's wear which they feature. The Brunns, in association with Mr. Pete Tersol, recently opened another Carmel shop for women, "HB's wife," which is located in the new L'Espalier shopping center on Mission, south of Ocean Avenue.

Regina Hicks of Carmel was awarded a first prize in "Photography 65," a recent statewide junior college print competition sponsored by Orange Coast College. In addition to the Carmel prize-winner, another first prize was awarded to Ed Whitworth, also a student of Al Weber at Monterey Peninsula College.

Other MPC photography students whose work was among the 34 pupils accepted for the exhibition were Eileen Dufur of Carmel Valley, Bill Twibell and Barbara Litts of Carmel and Albertha McConnell of Pebble Beach.

Judges were Ansel Adams of Carmel Highlands, Wynn Bullock of Monterey and William La Rue of New York.

"Photography 65" is being shown at Pasadena City College until the end of May, then will come to MPC.

A student art show sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula College art department will be on view through Saturday in the Monterey Public Library community room and lobby display cases, Alex Gonzales, MPC instructor, announces.

Represented in the exhibition will be examples from the classes of Robert Nelson, Richard Bibler, Joseph Hysong and Gonzales.

Mrs. Joseph Weston of Carmel was awarded a blue ribbon for the ponchetta which she exhibited at the recent Northern California Handweavers Association conference in Fresno as part of the Carmel Crafts Guild entry.

Guild members who were awarded white ribbons in Fresno are Mrs. Lawrence Blinks, Mrs. Joni Clayton, Mrs. Clara Martinie and Mrs. Joel Priets.

Watercolors and drawings by Winifred Carmer Marburg will be exhibited in the Crafts Room of the Carmel Valley Manor for one month, beginning on June 5. A versatile and imaginative artist, Mrs. Marburg has had several one-man shows and has been represented in numerous group exhibits.

An invitational tea at the Manor will be held on the opening day.

An exhibit of paintings on glass by Marta Huth opened recently in Carmel Valley Manor and will be on view for the remainder of the month. Mrs. Huth's work represents an adaptation of old methods, such as used in 15th century family and religious art, to modern expression of her ideas. A student of photography and portrait painting in her native Germany, Mrs. Huth has had one-man shows in Chicago, St. Louis and at the Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco.

Mrs. Huth is the wife of Dr. Hans Huth, former curator of decorative arts at the Chicago Art Institute.

The Laky Galleries exhibit of three artists from Taiwan, Yet-Por Cheng, James Y. J. Liu and Chang-Chieh Wang, has been extended until May 30. All of the works of these eminent Chinese artists purchased by the public have been replaced by additional paintings, showing the complete range of their brush to the new viewer as well as persons returning to the show.

Evelyn Scardigli gave a talk on the lost wax method of casting jewelry at the May meeting of the Carmel Crafts Guild.

Planners Revise Report On Moving City Hall

temporary city hall be deleted from the January report. Commissioners also asked the council to reconsider their December, 1963, report, also the January report. Both advise that the city hall be placed permanently on city-owned property on Junipero Street designated in the city's general plan as a civic center.

A letter from Purity Stores informed the commission that the neglected landscaping condition at the Carmel store will be rectified and steps to accomplish this have already been taken. Last week the commission sent a letter to the grocery chain censuring the landscaping neglect.

Yesterday, commissioners authorized similar letters that will be sent to owners of the post office, Carmel Laundry and Joe's Taxi sites. The commission generally commended property owners whose landscaping is well maintained and an asset to the city.

A matter concerning Carmel Creamery will be put on next month's agenda, commissioners decided, and the owner of the property, Arne Halle, will be so informed. In January of 1964, Mr. Halle requested permission for a sign. This was granted on condition that awnings be removed. No action on the sign has resulted and the awnings are still in place.

Commissioners asked the building inspector and city attorney to confer and recommend appropriate action concerning floodlighting at the Carmel office of Security National Bank which is illuminating a greater area than permitted for the size of a sign.

Building Inspector Thomas informed the commission that Mrs. Hildreth Hare had complied with their request and a non-conforming addition to a dwelling had been removed.

Revisions in preliminary plans for a theatre and store development at the southwest corner of Dolores and Seventh were approved. So were signs for Union Oil Company, McGregor Real Estate, Lee Galleries, Carmel Towel Shop and La Marmite. Floodlighting for the new Union Oil service station at San Carlos and Sixth also received the commission's approval.

Service Station Still Operating

The Shell Oil Company service station at the southeast corner of San Carlos and Seventh is not being demolished as was erroneously stated in another local paper, Ray Lugo reports. He says he has a three-year lease on the station which is being managed by his son, Richard.

Mr. Lugo has operated a Shell station on Lighthouse Avenue in Pacific Grove for the past 23 years and will continue to do so.

"I am the man who has the dog that rides the horse in the Peninsula parades" is the way he identifies himself to Carmelites.

Mr. Lugo's Carmel station was formerly operated by Charles Marcolli who has taken over the Richfield station across the street. This station was run by James Burgess until he retired two weeks ago.

HONOR LLOYD WEER

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company will honor six local men at a service award dinner tomorrow evening in Hyatt House, Salinas.

Lloyd Weer, manager of the Carmel P.G.&E. office who is retiring in June, will receive a 35-year pin in recognition of his service to the company.

Others who will be honored are C. J. Trapkus, 20-year award; Don R. Hays, 15-year award; R. T. Percival and E. A. Nolan, ten-year awards; and J. A. Lormans, five-year award.

Raggetts Return

An exciting and delightful trip ended for Mr. and Mrs. Mark Raggett last week when they returned from the Hawaiian Islands. En route to Kona Plantation, in which they are shareholders, on the island of Hawaii, they stopped first at Honolulu. There they discovered that the nuclear sub USS Plunger, upon which their son, Lieutenant (j.g.) Michael Raggett is serving, had arrived in port for two days. While dinner guests aboard the ship, they were presented with a plaque which is a duplicate of that displayed in the officers' mess. Mrs. Raggett says she was thrilled to examine the Plunger and especially to have her first look through a periscope.

They proceeded to the lovely Kona coast resort for a week, during which they took an interesting day's round trip to Hilo on the opposite side of the island. The Raggetts finished their sojourn with a few days at the new Kauai Surf hotel on Kauai and they also made a trip by river boat to the fern grotto on this island.

The Raggetts' other son, Jon, is winding up his junior year at Princeton and is due home soon for the summer. Jon was recently elected president of the American Society of Civil Engineers chapter at Princeton.

Coach Hicks Resigns

Last night, the Carmel board of education accepted the resignation of Hadley F. Hicks, high school varsity football coach and English teacher. He has accepted a position in Prescott, Arizona, where he will teach speech and be assistant football coach.

Resignations of Miss Margaret Telonicher, Mrs. Mary Armstead and Mrs. Imogene Speiser were also accepted.

Employed was a new teacher of French for the Middle School. He is Alan E. Oppenhuizen and will come here from Boulder, Colorado, where he has been the director of the University of Colorado's modern language house and instructor on the faculty.

Leave of absence to teach in Germany was granted to Miss Joan Haggerty.

Haldorn Regatta Is Sailing Event Of Holiday Weekend

Named in honor of the man whose inspired action brought about the formation of the Stillwater Yacht Club, the traditional Haldorn Regatta on Memorial Day weekend will be combined this year with an invitational regatta, henceforth to be known as the Haldorn-Commodores Regatta.

Mercury sailors from other clubs may sail in all races but will be eligible only for the commodores' trophy which has been donated by SYC Commodore Tom Perry.

In the late '30s, Stuart Haldorn, who started the sailing in Stillwater Cove, purchased five Mercury kits and distributed them among "would-be" sailors, who built them and started the yacht club. The boats of the first fleet were owned by Mr. Haldorn, Byington Ford, Bill Burnam, Ward Law, Tom Bunn and Kay Clark.

On Sunday there will be races at 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Following the final race on Monday morning, trophies will be awarded at the Beach Club to skippers of the first five boats contending in the Haldorn Regatta, and to the first place winner of the Commodores.

Commodore Perry won both races in the first two contests of the Championship Series which began Sunday with the opening of the sailing season at Stillwater Cove.

In order of place, other entrants in the morning race were Van Yates, George Yates, Mark Raggett, Dick Catlin, Larry Washburn, Stephen Gould, Jim Cost, Evan Wythe, Dick Clark, Doug Baird—DNF.

In the afternoon race: Doug Baird, Dick Catlin, Van Yates, Larry Washburn, George Yates, Topper Gould, Mark Raggett, Evan Wythe, Dick Clark, Jim Cost and Stephen Gould.

The first fiberglass Mercury to join the fleet was entered by her owner and new club member, Jim Cost, for her maiden race.

Social Studies Teachers Do Good Job Under Deplorable Conditions Subcommittee Report Stresses

After discussing the needs of the Carmel Unified School District's social studies curriculum, Grades 4-12, Dr. Boyd Huff, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee's social studies subcommittee, told the board of education last week that, throughout the system, "personnel is strained to the utmost."

He advocated a higher education tax to eliminate many of the deficiencies found by his committee to exist in the social studies program. Some of these were overloaded and underpaid teachers, insufficient written assignments, poor working conditions, and a deplorable lack of reference material in the high school library.

The social studies subcommittee, in its written report for the board, stated that it "was generally impressed with the enthusiasm and willingness to work" evidenced by the teachers it interviewed throughout the system.

Particularly praised was the high school social studies faculty for its "quality, academic preparation, high morale and hard work," but the subcommittee warned the board that the excellent social studies program at Carmel High school largely is "running on morale alone."

HIGH SCHOOL

The social studies subcommittee found dividing comparative civilization and U.S. history instruction into advanced placement track, college placement track and slow track was "a most worthwhile development" and advised including in the three-track approach a senior year course in government. Team teaching was approved as a means of implementing three-track teaching.

High praise was given to the school district for developing, also having adopted by the State office of education, an advanced placement track project with National Defense Education Act funds. Further federal financial aid from this source should be sought for the college placement track which embraces the majority of Carmel High School students, the subcommittee urged.

"Because of the financial assistance that can be gained for NDEA projects and the necessity for fund matching, the subcommittee suggests that the school board consider the establishment of a rotating fund for this purpose," the subcommittee's report advised.

The report also expressed concern over the quality and expense of high school social studies textbooks and recommended the use of supplementary texts and appointment of a permanent textbook selection committee.

"If it were not for the Harrison Memorial Library, Carmel High School would not be able to meet its library requirements," the report emphasized and deplored that over a 20-year period there has been no sustained growth in the social studies collection in the high school library.

"The subcommittee deplores the lack of written work throughout the social studies curriculum," the report said but added that with the present teaching load this lack is not the fault of the instructors but indicates "a clear need for readers."

Another aid suggested for the high school was better scheduling to allow this community's many qualified speakers and experts in the field of social studies to "add and arouse interest" in the curriculum.

The salaries of Carmel High School social studies teachers "should at least reach the state median. Carmel High School has lost too many fine teachers in the past because of this salary factor," the report pointed out, and added, "there is a clear need for a larger staff, reduced teaching loads, better working conditions, definite budgets, clerical and reader assistance . . . and higher salaries."

The subcommittee was appalled at the lack of private offices, or even departmental offices, where social studies teachers can work, also that they cannot count on working in their own classrooms because of the high level of classroom utilization."

GRADES 4-8

Social studies instruction in Grades 4-8 also suffers from a lack of quiet areas, such as faculty reading rooms, in each school where teachers might pursue their preparations and written assignments for their classes, the social studies subcommittee observed.

The elementary teachers also have overloaded schedules which do not allow the inclusion of written assignments in social studies instruction. Written reports and essays are the best means of evaluating a student's ability to think, also express ideas in a coherent fashion, the subcommittee noted.

Also a lack in the elementary grades is the fact that few teachers have much college-level preparation for teaching social studies. This could be remedied by solid outlining of the goals and objectives of the social studies courses in the elementary grades, the subcommittee suggested.

A further improvement would be accomplished by the elimination of overlapping course content in the elementary grades and continuance of this overlapping in high school instruction. For example, the subcommittee reported, discussion of Indians and the Age of Exploration and Colonization occurs in Grades 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 and is repeated in high school.

"How many times can Columbus appear before the Indians at the expense of 20th century topics," queried the subcommittee report.

Coordination among social studies instructors and development of a sequential teaching program would do away with unnecessary overlapping in course content, the subcommittee recommended.

Commenting on the total program, Grades 4-12, Dr. Huff counseled that this community should "bear a higher tax load in respect to education." Higher taxes would provide a lower teaching load, smaller classes and better salaries, he stressed.

Other members of the social studies subcommittee were Mrs. Michael Dormody, Mrs. Edgar Haber and Mrs. Eben Whittlesey.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following statement will be read: "There is no power apart from God. Sure as springtime...

There'll always be plenty of energy here!

In Northern and Central California, plenty of gas and electricity is one thing you can always count on.

Plenty for the many ways you put gas and electricity to use right now. Plenty for the amazing new ways gas and electricity will serve you in the future. Plenty for homes...plenty for farms...and plenty for business and industry.

That's because PG&E plans ahead. This year, 7,600 construction men and 275 million dollars are working on expansion of PG&E facilities. Completion of the McCloud-Pit Project, for instance, involves six dams, ten miles of tunnels and 107 million dollars. Or take our Moss Landing Power Plant expansion—when finished, that plant will generate more electricity than all seventy-one plants in our system in 1948.

Moreover, you can depend on our continuing to keep PG&E energy your best bargain.

Eva Marie Saint Coming Here For 'Sandpiper' Showing And Symphony's Champagne Supper

The appearance of a film star, Eva Marie Saint, at the Monterey County Symphony's Sustaining Fund Benefit on June 4, will add the final touch to an event which promises to be one of the most glamorous in local history.

The benefit, which will include a champagne supper, discotheque party and a special performance of "The Sandpiper" starring Miss Saint, also Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, will be at the Golden Bough Cinema and Golden Bough Circle theatres beginning at 9 p.m.

Guests will enter the theatre via a red carpeted walkway flanked by flaming torches. Beautifully appointed buffet tables will be set up in the lobby which will be banked with greens and masses of flowers carrying out the red, pink and white color scheme. Mobiles and bird silhouettes will be used throughout the lobby and the theatre itself to acknowledge the picture. Shadow boxes will display musical instruments and memorabilia as symphony symbols.

Focal point of interest at the Circle Theatre discotheque will be a giant birdcage in which special dancers will demonstrate a new dance — "The Sandpiper" created especially for this occasion. An authentic and informal atmosphere will be maintained in the discotheque with the use of dozens of brightly colored pillows instead of more traditional seating arrangements.

An after-theatre supper has been devised by the menu co-chairmen Mrs. George Fletcher and Mrs. James W. Moore. It will include platters of iced lobster and prawns with a curried dip, drumsticks teriyaki, cucumber sandwiches, pate a choux avec salade de jambon, piroshki (Russian meat turnovers), petit-fours and other pastries. The finest California champagne will also be served.

Admission to the three-part party is by patron and sponsor donations to the symphony sustaining fund. Reservations are still being accepted and can be made by telephoning Mrs. Howard S. Bucquet (624-6141) or symphony headquarters (624-4125).

Junior High Field Trips To Big Sur

Earth science and biology students of Carmel Junior High School recently completed an all day field trip to the Big Sur area as a field application and examination of their school course work. Herbert C. Reuter, Marvin D. Patterson and Albert C. Kolb, CJHS teachers, took 87 students on May 10, and the remaining 67 students on May 17.

They observed a coast line emerging from the sea, brush encroachment upon grass land, and soil creeping down hillsides in a most common but usually unrecognized type of soil erosion. The students collected rock, plant, and insect specimens throughout the trip. Some students feel that the rocks thrown into the ocean speeded the processes of erosion a hundred years.

The groups visited the Captain Cooper Elementary School for a picnic lunch and used the recreational facilities there. All appreciated the hospitality of Rowena Kelly, Lynn Caldwell, George Selvig, and the Captain Cooper students.

The classes are greatly indebted to C. T. Hill for permission to visit the tide pools and observe plant and animal life on Light House Flats at Big Sur.

On each of these Monday evenings the Carmel Junior High School faculty wondered who was the most tired—Reuter, Patterson and Kolb or their students. It was obvious to all, however, that everyone had enjoyed the opportunity to observe nature at first hand.

Bishop Kip School In New Quarters

The Bishop Kip School moved into its new Carmel Valley home during last weekend.

Pupils in the school, which offers kindergarten through sixth grade instruction, have been housed in the old Community Hospital annex at Santa Fe and Pico in Carmel. Before that, the school was located in All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Formal dedication of the new school is scheduled for June 12 to coincide with graduation exercises for sixth graders.

CHS TENNIS TEAM

The end of the tennis season this month found Carmel High School in first place in the Mission Trails Athletic League, with their doubles team, Craig Olson and Pete Steffen taking top honors in the tournament at Gilroy. Pete Crane placed second in a hotly contested match with his Hollister opponent.

Red Cross Urges Citizens To Give Blood On June 3

The bloodmobile will make its quarterly visit to Carmel on June 3 and will be at the Red Cross chapter house at Eighth and Dolores streets from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

"We are expecting a large number of our regular donors to appear," said F. Douglas Tellwright, blood program chairman for the Carmel Red Cross, "but we are also eager to increase the volume of new contributors. Donating blood is painless, and is a vital public service.

"Anyone in normal health, from his or her 20th to 60th birthdays, is asked to give an hour of his time and a pint of his blood to help a neighbor in need. Minors from 18 to 20 years of age may also contribute. Such minors, however, must present an authorization form signed by a parent or guardian. These forms may be obtained at the chapter's house prior to June 3."

All types of blood are needed at this time. Donors will be served luncheon by Red Cross canteen workers and baby-sitting will be provided at the chapter house during the hours of the bloodmobile visit.

Soil Stewardship Matter Of Concern Says Bruno Odello

Soil stewardship is a matter of concern for city as well as rural folks, Bruno Odello, director of the Carmel Valley Soil Conservation District, says.

Observance of Soil Stewardship Week, sponsored by the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, is scheduled for this entire week through Sunday, Mr. Odello adds. District director Russell Wolter is assisting Mr. Odello in distributing booklets to local schools and churches.

Theme for the observance is "Challenges of Growth," and special services in churches of various faiths opened the week. Other observances will take place this Sunday, according to Mr. Odello.

The Carmel Valley Soil Conservation District made available to churches of all faiths, inserts, brochures, program blanks, and other materials for Soil Stewardship Sunday. This year more than ever responsibility of town and city dwellers for conserving the soils is emphasized in the observance.

"City folks have a great stake," Mr. Odello says, "in what happens to the land which feeds, clothes, shelters and gives us day to day comforts and pleasures. The responsibility will shift more and more to urban shoulders as the national and urban population grows and productive acreage of land is reduced by competing demands on it.

"Now we have abundant food and fiber. It is a blessing that we cannot expect to continue automatically. Only wise use and conservation of resources now can assure dependable supplies for the future," Mr. Odello emphasizes.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Monterey County Soil Conservation District has made available to local grocery stores a leaflet to be given to purchasers to emphasize the importance of soil and water conservation to food just bought. Mrs. Milton Rianda of Soledad is chairman of this group.

In addition to Mr. Odello and Mr. Wolter, directors of the Carmel Valley Soil Conservation District are Robert Wilson, Hans Ewoldsen and Jean Cahoon. The district embraces Big Sur as well the Valley.

Physical Education Inadequately Taught In Elementary Schools Subcommittee Tells CUSD Board

Assuming that the primary purpose of the physical education program in schools of the Carmel Unified School District is to serve the needs of every student rather than a selected few, members of the Citizens Advisory Committee's physical education subcommittee began study on the P.E. curriculum in January. Last week they reported to the board of education that the greatest need for improvement exists on the elementary school level. The over-all programs at the junior and senior high schools met with their approval. Members of this subcommittee were Dr. Joseph H. Ward, chairman, Mrs. Hugh Smith, Police Chief Clyde Klaumann and Charles Seaver.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Noting that most of the elementary school teachers lack the necessary training to implement the well balanced lesson prepared by William Wakefield, physical education coordinator for the school system, the subcommittee recommended that resource persons living in the community be asked to assist teachers in the fields of folk dancing, tumbling, rhythms, ball skills, use of obstacle courses and games.

"This is the first time the use of resource persons has been suggested for physical education," Superintendent Medill Bair remarked and appeared impressed by this suggestion.

Other recommendations to improve the elementary physical education curriculum were (a) hire a physical education specialist to work with elementary teachers; (b) active participation by every student in a wide variety of activities; (c) emphasis be placed on the development of muscle skills, good posture and daily exercises; (d) new teachers hired by the district should have some physical education skills.

JUNIOR HIGH

The physical education curriculum at the junior high school is excellent the subcommittee reported but recommended that in the boys' department there should be more emphasis on basic skills and safety procedures, also a strong well balanced intramural program should be established.

Another junior high recommendation was the employment of full-time physical education teachers. An incentive program would aid students to acquire high levels of physical fitness, the subcommittee also suggested.

HIGH SCHOOL

A broad well planned physical education program is offered at Carmel High School, the subcommittee observed. However, this program would be improved if there were four full-time physical education teachers and scheduling was the same as for other required subjects. Subcommittee members deplored an apparent "dumping" of students into physical education classes which can be accommodated to schedules for academic classes.

Further recommendations were (a) that upper classmen should have a choice of a single sport in which to specialize, preferably one that would carry over into later life such as tennis, badminton or golf; (b) a boys' intramural program to meet the needs of every student, regardless of physical ability, should be established; (c) students should be motivated to achieve high levels of physical fitness by the adoption of an incentive program.

The subcommittee on physical education also listed specific improvements which should be made in physical education facilities at elementary schools and the junior and senior high schools.

DR. DUMKE LAST SPEAKER IN MPC 'FERMENT' SERIES

Dr. Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the California state colleges, will conclude the "Education in Ferment" series of lectures at Monterey Peninsula College tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Armory on campus.

Selected in 1962 as chancellor of one of the largest systems of public higher education in the Western hemisphere — a system which includes 18 colleges with a current enrollment of some 120,000 students — Dr. Dumke was vice chancellor for academic affairs during the previous year.

MARKET MEMOS

By William H. Godwin Jr. of Dean Witter & Co.

This past week has been one of irregularity. Several casualties in the blue chip section had a marked impact on the Dow Jones averages. DuPont was subject to selling pressures when the expected split did not materialize at the annual directors meeting. The motors were off after an article in one of the New York papers stated that auto sales weren't running as well as in the same period in 1964.

Some individual issues which have been doing well in their respective groups in recent sessions are Radio Corporation of America, Grumman Aircraft, General Dynamics, National Airlines, and Fairchild Camera.

Good earnings reports and the high level of disposable income suggest further strength in the economy. Against this favorable background, the near-term uncertainties of the balance-of-payment problem, the escalation of the war in Viet Nam, and the involvement of U.S. Troops in the Dominican Republic, make for some further irregularity as investors adopt a more cautious approach.

Oakland Ballet At Valley Theatre This Weekend

The Oakland Civic Ballet, under the direction of Ronn Guidi, will appear at the White Oaks Theatre in Carmel Valley on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Performers in the original ballet production include Mr. Guidi, Dianne Brock, Anita Paciotte, Arthur Conrad and Angene Feves, ballet mistress and one of the choreographers of the company.

The theatre is donating its facilities and technicians in order that people in this area may have the opportunity to see this highly respected dance group perform. Tickets, $2.50 for adults and $1.75 for students, may be obtained at the Central Box Office or reserved through the theatre by phoning 659-2248.

A second event of the weekend of dance at White Oaks Theatre will be a recital by members of the theatre's training center on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. The program will reflect nine months of training by Gale Peterson and Miss Feves of the theatre staff and guest instructor Madame Zicova. Admission is $1.00 for adults and 75 cents for children; there is no charge to those who hold tickets for the Oakland Civic Ballet presentation. Tickets may be purchased at the box office.

Symphony Season Soloists Selected

Soloists have been announced by Conductor John Gosling for the 1965-66 season of the Monterey County Symphony. During the October concert, Raymond Fabrizio, flutist, will be presented in "Night Soliloquy" by Kennan. In December, Alma Bonner, soprano, will be featured in the West Coast premiere of "Bouquet d'Algues" by de Gastyne. Ralph Storseth, cellist, will be soloist in February for Haydn's "Concerto for Cello and Orchestra in D Major." The March concert will bring Ralph Firkusny, pianist, here to play in Beethoven's "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, No. 5 in E Major."

In addition to the de Gastyne premiere, three other West Coast premieres will be on next season's orchestra programs. These are Creston's "Corinthians XIII," Mulder's "Premier" and Yardumian's "Veni Sancte Spiritus," a choral prelude on plainsong.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

MARINE BIOLOGY FIELD TRIP

A morning of collecting specimens of sea life and an afternoon of identifying them and "doing research," was the rewarding experience of the student body of Palo Colorado School one day recently. In cooperation with Principal-Teacher Nancy Bottero and Mrs. Drummond Hoffman, the mother of three Palo Colorado pupils, who helped provide transportation, Robert D. Beeman, a marine biologist, led the group to an area along the Sur Coast where specimens were gathered. Later in the day, back at the school, specimens were individually placed in clear, plastic containers, identified with printed cards, and arranged on tables in the library area. Two miscroscopes were in use for close up observation. Then followed a thoughtful examination by each of the students which, was accompanied by explanation and elaboration by Mr. Beeman. Among the several dozen live, squirming, colorful creatures and plants were California coral, clingfish, Turban snails, Colonial sea squirt, washrag kelp, crabs, algae seaweed, and nudibranchs or sea slugs—of these Beeman observed "They don't deserve the name of slugs, they are so beautiful!"

The joyous enthusiasm, the high pitch of fascination with the science subject under study was maintained throughout the day, and until the hour when the sea creatures and plants were returned to their home in the ocean. "We return them to the place where we find them," explained Beeman, who is on leave of absence at Stanford University's Hopkins Marine Station where he is studying for his doctorate. Next year Robert "Bob" Beeman will be assistant professor of marine biology at San Francisco State College.

REWARD FOR CONSERVATION

For their enthusiastic and consistent interest in conservation and reforestation, five young men of the Captain Cooper School, Big Sur, were rewarded with badges of merit during a special ceremony held at the school recently. The badges, or arm patches, were of the same size and wording as those worn by U.S. Forest Service rangers and issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The awards were made by Art Martell, fire prevention officer of the U.S. Forest Service, who is stationed at the Big Sur Guard Station, to Tal Bradford, Brian Branson, David Brazil, Steven Morgenthaler and Steven Ward.

In further recognition of their service to their school and community, the five students' names will appear on an especially designed plaque that will hang on the school's wall and will, from this year forward, bear the names of those who have, each year, contributed outstanding service in the field of conservation.

The idea for this reward and recognition is the outgrowth of a program begun at the school in late February when the student body, teachers, parents and friends, gathered for the express purpose of planting trees and shrubs on the school property, all in keeping with a landscape plan detailed by Mr. and Mrs. Hans Ewoldsen.

The cypress, pine, madrone, fir and other trees and plants, planted that day, have been methodically cared for by the school children, especially by the five honored with badges of merit.

NEPENTHE CONCERTS

Owen James, flutist and musical director of the Concert Art Series currently being presented at Nepenthe, announces two remaining weekends of music in this series. Tomorrow and Saturday evening there will be a chamber music concert, with performing artists Joanna Bramel, Alan Curtis, Owen James and Lenore James. The concluding program, on June 4, will feature violinist David Abel and pianist Nathan Schwartz with music of Stravinsky, Brahms, Debussy and Webern.

SANDPIPER DRAWINGS AND PAINTINGS

The Sandpiper — drawings and paintings—the work of Big Sur artist Dorothy Bowman, will be presented in a one-man show at the Coast Gallery, beginning next weekend. Curator of the gallery, Mrs. La Verne Allen, is honoring the well-known Sur Coast artist, who created these works during the filming of The Sandpiper in Big Sur and environs last year, with a reception on June 5. This reception will be a benefit for the Monterey County Symphony Association.

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM

Ballet pupils of Lilli Selvig's Big Sur class and members of the 4th, 5th and 6th grades at the Captain Cooper Elementary School, will be members of the cast presenting A Midsummer Night's Dream on June 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the Big Sur Grange Hall. Eve Miller Ross is designing and fabricating costumes for this final program of the school year —a program which is being called a "silver tea." Admission will be by donation and funds collected will be used to purchase some needed piece of equipment for the school.

VACATION IN IDAHO

Mrs. Rowena Kelly, principal of Captain Cooper Elementary School, and her daughter, Dorothy, will spend part of this summer's vacation in Idaho, where Dorothy will enroll this fall as a freshman at Ricks College. The college is situated in Rexburg, Idaho, on the Snake River and in its over-75-year history claims among its graduates Rowena Kelly, many of her brothers and sisters and other members of her family. On entering college, Dorothy's goal is to be "a school teacher in Africa—that is my dream," says Dorothy, "or perhaps join the Peace Corps."

Anna M. Dickson

Memorial services for Mrs. Anna May Price Dickson were held Saturday afternoon in the Carmel Presbyterian Church with Dr. George Hunter Hall officiating. Mrs. Dickson, a resident of Carmel for the past seven years, died early last Thursday morning in a local hospital after a period of failing health.

She was a native of Kingston, New Mexico, where she was born April 14, 1895.

Mrs. Dickson graduated from Occidental College and received her M.A. in English from the University of California. Before her retirement in 1958, she was active in the teaching field in San Francisco and adjacent areas and was, at one time, dean of San Mateo Junior College. She and her husband, the late Frank Bernard Dickson, were both active in community affairs.

Among several surviving cousins is Mrs. Gladys (Emil) Edlind of Carmel.

Inurnment took place in El Carmelo Cemetery, Pacific Grove. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to make memorial contributions for Mrs. Dickson may do so to Occidental College, to the American Friends Service, or to the Citizens Committee of Carmel.

Editor's Column . . .

Pebble Beach, Hatton Fields and Carmel Point created a facility that made Carmel the musical center of the Peninsula and helped spread the cultural fame of Carmel across the nation and beyond the United States.

They did open a new era for Carmel.

The question before Carmel citizens today is . . . Shall this era be allowed to end?

On July 1, Sunset School auditorium will become the focal point of a municipal cultural and community center. It is 34 years old and has been allowed to deteriorate. Repairs will allow it still to be the home of the Music Society, the Bach Festival and the Monterey County Symphony.

But . . . last week, directors of each of these organizations evidenced interest in uniting with other cultural groups as an arts council to work closely with the new non-profit Arts, Inc. organization which plans to build a $2-$3 million cultural center on the Peninsula.

The Sunset School campus is only one site being considered by this ambitious group.

Those citizens who oppose even the thought of the development of a cultural center, at no expense to the city, on the Sunset site leased from the city for 30-40 years, as Arts, Inc. directors proposed to the Sunset Commission this month, should remember that history repeats.

Should Arts, Inc. develop a modern 1,200-seat auditorium other than in Carmel, once again the musical groups which have added lustre to the name of Carmel may find it advantageous to move to new and spacious performance quarters. If this should happen, the era that opened in 1931 would end.

The voters of Carmel, Pebble Beach, Hatton Fields and Carmel Point took a courageous step into the future in the midst of the depression. They built an auditorium for the whole Peninsula. They also assumed bonded indebtedness and a tax burden.

Will the citizens of Carmel be similarly brave and let Arts, Inc. know they are interested in having the proposed cultural center on the Sunset School site . . . or will they let the musical life of the Peninsula move beyond the city limits?

The property owners of Carmel have already assumed bonded indebtedness for 20 years to purchase the school site. The Arts, Inc. project will not mean added taxation and the cultural center buildings will become city property either on completion of the whole development or separately as each is finished, whichever the city wishes, according to what Arts, Inc. representatives told the Sunset Commission. There is no depression.

This is a much more advantageous position than that in which the brave school district voters found themselves in 1931. The past 34 years, thanks to Sunset School auditorium, have been a glorious era for Carmel.

Will it be allowed to end in 1965?

The course of history is for Carmel citizens to plot: decide in which direction it will repeat — alone.

The voters of Pebble Beach, Hatton Fields and Carmel Point cannot help them this time.

M.L.

Valerie Johnson, a student in the Carmel Adult School pottery class, is seen at the glazing table in the pottery building at Sunset School. Articles she is working on, and other stoneware, will be included in pottery sale which the class is holding on Saturday and Sunday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., at the Carmel Rancho shopping center. Demonstrations on how stoneware is made will also be given by members of the class.

istrators published in the Monterey Peninsula Herald and contained the following paragraphs.

"Quoting from the article of May 21, 1965, 'it was the opinion of several persons interviewed yesterday that Dr. Burleson may merely be backing up his nurse without having been able to make as many personal inspections of the food handling as she had.'

"Since Mrs. Clayton is the school nurse for the high school and junior high, she spends five full days a week between the schools and, quite obviously, sees the eating areas much more frequently than I. However, I assure you any report that I have made is not hearsay. It is from personal observation. It would seem to me that Mrs. Clayton backed me up since I was the instigator of this furor.

"Perhaps my eyes are more trained or perhaps my professional training will not allow me to overlook discrepancies. However, this being my opinion and feeling, I could no longer stand by and be responsible. If some communicable disease attributable to food handling would appear, it would be me that would have to explain why I let deficencies continue.

"I have absolutely nothing to gain in reporting to you what I have seen. I have malice toward no one. While acting as your school physician I had a responsibility to you and to the students. This responsibility has now been discharged and my conscience is clear. The decision and responsibilities are now yours," Dr. Burleson's letter concluded.

Bair Predicts Reduction In Education Tax

report to the board on this matter stated.

Mr. Bair's budget, did, however, include the addition of a new administrative position. He requested an administrator to assist him in recruiting staff, coordination and organization of the curriculum and other administrative responsibilities. No person or salary were named for this position.

Also requested in the budget was $6,900 for psychological services which the county will provide. This sum will permit county psychologists to work in the schools of the Carmel district three days a week instead of the previous two. At first Trustees Clayton Neill Jr. and Steven Sassoon opposed this additional service.

"You are making a serious mistake," Mr. Bair said when they proposed a motion to continue, as last year, with a two-day service. This motion was voted down and Mr. Neill and Mr. Sassoon then joined other trustees to give unanimous approval to the three-day proposal. Mrs. Anna Kohner, principal of Woods and Carmelo schools and Robert Blakeman, a teacher at Sunset, pointed out the urgent need for additional help for children with problems prior to the affirmative vote.

The budget presented last night included funds for four additional language teachers but no additional art or music teachers, elementary school librarians and counselors, supervisors or teacher aides. It also contained no funds for delayed maintenance. Funds for instructional supplies and books, also capital expenditure allocations, were the same as last year.

Mr. Bair's report on the budget said, "This is a realistic but tightly constructed budget which will permit maximum educational progress within our present tax structure. It represents modest increased expenditure for salaries and wages with only minor new programs (English workshop, outdoor education, enlarged elementary summer school) and no improvements in buildings or grounds.

Action on items in the budget will be undertaken at the June 16 meeting of the board of education. This year's school tax is $2.57.

HOW ABOUT SOME NEW CARMEL CHARM?

Homes with Old Carmel Charm have living rooms as large and fireplaces as nice, but do they have a sliding glass wall opening to a covered patio in an area sunny enough to use all year round? And this kitchen has all the latest appliances for efficiency, combined with lovely hand-rubbed cabinets for a warm feeling. The two bedrooms are very large, light and airy, one has a fireplace, and the two baths are dreamy (baths are one of the biggest problems with the old charmers, along with kitchens). Lovely carpeting and draperies throughout. And there's no need to measure your car to see if it will fit the garage—room for two cars and a workshop besides, and the door opens electrically. Incidentally, the street has curbs and gutters, and there's mail delivery. The price is just $45,000 and the terms are excellent. Investigate!

Sunset Commission Divided On Parking, City Hall Move

Sunset commissioners differed over two items on their Monday evening agenda. Both were proposed uses of the Sunset School property after the city takes possession of it on July 1. The first controversial matter was the paving of the baseball park for public parking. The second was moving the city hall to the north wing of the school.

Unanimously approved for city council consideration were the rental of the gymnasium to the American Federation of Arts and a $1,650 commission budget for 1965-66.

Referred to committee study were the Carmel Arts Commission request for space to establish a museum of young people's art at the center and a request by James Chubb that the commission's newly set auditorium rental prices be revised.

Commissioners Wallace Doolittle and Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.) as members of the commission's use and policy committee, recommended in a report that no paving of the ballpark for a public parking lot be undertaken before June 30, 1966.

Commissioner Dr. James Gilman opposed this recommendation. Before the Sunset Committee's subcommittee on finance proposed the paving, it had studied city council and planning commission reports on parking, he pointed out.

"There is a parking problem in Carmel and this is a means to solve this problem, increase revenue from the site and improve the property. This report is less than adequate. All it says is 'We are opposed to it'", he declared.

Mr. Doolittle countered by saying that the Sunset Commission, bound by the word "community" on the ballot of the $575,000 bond election to purchase the school, should consider community needs but a lot of heed had been given to parking and "not much thought given to the playground."

Commissioner Jean van Loben Sels remarked that a 1963 report by Planning Commissioner Chairman Dorothy von Meier stated youth recreation needs were more than adequately provided by the youth center, four schools and the beach.

Commissioner James B. Pruitt thought the commission was not "equipped to make a decision at this point," on the paving matter.

Another commissioner, Ted Fehring, felt that the commission should give citizens what the largest number of them want and suggested there would be no harm in delaying a decision on the paving but did not like the date set for reconsideration. He moved that "at a later date" replace the date set in the report. His motion was unanimously approved.

Then commissioners took up the second controversial item. This was a report by Mrs. van Loben Sels and Mr. Pruitt, the commission's committee on planning, recommending that the Sunset Commission ask the city council to reevaluate its decision to move the city hall to Sunset School. Twenty findings supported by four conclusions led to this recommendation, the reading of the report showed.

At the conclusion of the reading, Arts Commission Chairman Barbara Norberg, who was in the audience, assailed the report.

She referred back to recommendations made by a citizens committee prior to the adoption of the city's general plan in 1957. It was the sense of this whole group that the Sunset School site was the ideal spot for a city hall, she contended.

A combination of city government and cultural activities in a village square development had been thought fine for the proposed community center at that time, she continued, but added this was "before government was spit down upon."

"I would like to know if the commission is favoring some so-called non-profit organization?" she asked.

"Just why all of a sudden should a group from Monterey and Pebble Beach take over our land and build to suit themselves," Mrs. Norberg queried. She was referring to Arts, Inc., a recently formed non-profit group which proposes to develop a cultural center on the Peninsula and is considering Sunset School as one of several sites.

Chairman Peter Dyer told Mrs. Norberg that no assumption had been made following a presentation of the Arts, Inc. plan to the Sunset Commission.

"We are going to proceed slowly and hear all sides," he emphasized.

Mr. Fehring also opposed asking the council to reevaluate moving the city hall to Sunset School.

"I can't see any real reason for not moving the city hall and administrative offices to this site," he stated. Mr. Doolittle, too, was against asking the council to reevaluate its decision.

"What are we going to use this thing for?" he questioned in reference to the fact that after July 1 Sunset School will be empty.

"I think you've talked yourselves into something great and grand instead of trying to get on a solid basis at the beginning," he told Mr. Pruitt, Mrs. van Loben Sels and Dr. Gilman who advocated that the city hall not be placed at Sunset, as having it there would foreclose consideration of the site by Arts, Inc.

A motion to ask the council to reevaluate its decision on the city hall move carried, however, with Mr. Fehring and Mr. Doolittle voting against it.

Mr. Dyer then charged Mr. Doolittle's use and policy committee to recommend uses for Sunset.

The meeting concluded with Mr. Dyer asking the same committee to explore ways and means of improving and maintaining landscaping at the school site.

"It looks deplorable and could be improved at little or no expense," Dr. Gilman, who brought up this matter, told the commission.

Letter To Editor

UNSANITARY CONDITIONS

Editor, May 24
Carmel Pine Cone

As a weekend resident of Carmel anticipating a move to this area where two of our children will attend public school, we had an opportunity to inspect two campuses. We were amazed at the condition of the junior high which appears to be ten years old instead of two. The damage to interior and exterior walls and floors is self-evident as was the clutter of paper about the campus. The school which our children now attend, Carl B. Muncke, is twice the age but appears internally and externally new.

As for the high school, the same appearance was evident. Upon entering the school we came upon a man servicing the vending machine with dirty hands and clothes, handling unwrapped food.

The charges made by Dr. Burleson are not fiction and evidently many are aware of the condition. Swift action should proceed to remedy the unsanitary conditions and a public apology rendered to the doctor and his staff who were only pursuing their job conscientiously.

Very truly yours,
Philip M. Wynkoop
